Dear Name Last Name,

Thank you for extending the offer for the Senior Product Designer role at Example Company. I'm very excited about this opportunity and the chance to contribute to your team.

After careful consideration, I'd like to discuss the compensation package. Based on my research of market rates for similar roles in [location/region] and my experience with [relevant experience], I believe a salary of $115,000 would better reflect the value I can bring to Example Company.

Here's what I bring to the table: [Specific achievement or experience 1] - [how this helps the company] [Specific achievement or experience 2] - [how this helps the company] [Specific achievement or experience 3] - [how this helps the company]

I'm very enthusiastic about this role and Example Company's mission. I'm confident that my experience and skills will make a significant impact, and I believe this salary adjustment reflects that value.

I'm open to discussing this further and finding a package that works for both of us. Would you be available for a call this week to discuss?

Thank you again for this opportunity. I'm looking forward to joining the team.

Best regards,

John Doe
